

Men in the blue

Contributed by George Gouvoussis
Tuesday, 10 February 2009
Last Updated Monday, 23 February 2009

Men In the Blue is a small new company formed by a couple of avid freedivers – spearos wanting to serve the freediving-spearfishing community in the manner we, in the past, sought to be served ourselves. Our aim is to supply the highest quality freediving and spearfishing equipment at the most competitive prices together with a Personal service second to none. Given the fact that all spearos are different and with varying needs the key word here is Personal. For MltheB no detail is marginal or insignificant.

In case you are wondering, MltheB is supplying a limited gamma of products only and this is not coincidental. Albeit our product range will expand some what down the line it will remain limited. Our mission is to supply the best products only, whether these are from a few world renowned manufacturers or small, known by few, niche companies. With world class names like: Elios, Marea, Majestic, Mtechnic and a soon to be announced new star partner we have every spearo’s needs covered. If you’re looking for the best then you need look no further. Check out our website: www.menintheblue.eu and www.mitheb.com and prepare to see some of the best gear available anywhere as well as obtain an idea of what makes us different. Should navigating through our site not provide the necessary information or answer/s you need please either leave a message or send us an email: info@menintheblue.eu and you will be contacted promptly.